Introduction

The final conference of the project "Improving civic competencies of adult learners through digital tools - Count Me In" took place in the premises of the City Library of Benkovac on June 26. Project managers Martina Friganović Šimunov and Ana Zubčić held a presentation. There were twenty two participants.

Agenda and logistics

The project and project goals were discussed at the final conference. Agenda was as follows: About the Project, Presentation of an online course „Make your community SMARTER“, Presentation of results and pilot activities, Socializing with a banquet.

Profile of participants

Participants of the final conference were mostly young people from different associations (Youth Association BiK, Association for Children, Youth and Family "Small Steps") and colleagues from ZADRA NOVA - Zadar County Development Agency and City of Benkovac.

Promotion of the event

The promotion of the event was done through the official website of the Agency (<http://www.agrra.hr>) and official Facebook page.

Feedback on the event

Feedback from participants is positive, they were very interested in an online course „Make your community SMARTER“ and in results of pilot activities. After the presentation itself, participants discussed about SMART solutions which should be implemented in their city and also about possible future collaborations.

Conclusions

The final conference of the project "Improving civic competencies of adult learners through digital tools - Count Me In" was very informative and successful. Pilot activity aimed at online testing was presented „Make your community SMARTER“. The pilot activities were carried out in the spring of 2020 and involved 51 participants from Italy, Spain, Poland, Latvia and Croatia. The course covers the following topics: accessibility to all in public places, civil services, data mining, e-government, energy management, urban mobility, water management and waste management. Course materials are available on the project website <http://countmein.eu> and will be available after the end of project.
